SILK Linguistics Markov Analysis is a speech therapist tool based on Artificial Intelligence that helps in developing the skills of your child. It can be used by parents, teachers, speech therapists, and doctors to provide them with a therapist to help train their children to speak. This software looks for certain words which are hard for children to utter. As the child's speech improves, the machine builds a model that accurately predicts the child's future speech. Silk Linguistics is a natural language processing algorithm that uses statistical models to accurately predict future speech, enabling speech therapists to form a model of the child's future language progress. It is a machine learning system that requires the input of speech samples, marking these to provide a better model. This is done by providing the most common words that the child utters, as well as the most 'difficult' words and phrases. This will go a long way in helping your child learn how to pronounce and deliver these words, and thereby their conversation skills. Parenting Files: An element used to store and organize information, such as notes, letters, and videos. Levels: Used to describe the level of difficulty in teaching a child to speak. Notes: Textual information which is stored
