Basically, I have some rows that have a date and the amount, but the amount is not recorded in every row.

I have written the following: `df = pd.DataFrame({'date':[10,12,15], 'amount':[1,3,1]}) df.apply(lambda x: x + pd.DataFrame([["", "", "", ""], ["", "", "", "]])) df.to_csv("test.csv")` I wish to replace the row [1,3,1] with a row that would have a record of [3,3,1], as this is how my data set appears in excel. A: You can use `DataFrame.lookup df.assign(new_amount = df.amount.mask(df.amount!= 0, df.amount.fillna('m')))` print(df) date amount new_amount 0 10 1 1 1 12 3 3 2 15 1 3
Q: How can I find the center of gravitational force of an object using Newton's Laws? I have a lot of complicated numbers and products to calculate, so I need a formula with two variables. The first would be the weight e79caf774b

.. [Â« le hobbit un voyage inattendu version longue why so many peoples come here to pls share with the world for free movies and music and computer stuff and many others it is not legal to pls just share with world for freeWhat happens when you want to do something and all you have in your hands are public information? It's called open data. Open data is one of the most forward-thinking things going on in the world right now. Governments around the globe are increasingly opening up public records in ways that are helpful for citizens, journalists, and entrepreneurs looking to make a difference. The Open Data Institute (ODI) and Facebook are celebrating the launch of our pilot program at the ODI Summit in New York, highlighting the opportunities and challenges of sharing in real time the data that's most relevant to everyday citizens. "Through our partnership with the ODI, we can help turn all of our smart data into actionable information and access to those data sources," said Julia Steyn, Head of Open Data at Facebook. "We look forward to working with the ODI and its partners on the Open Data Index, and to sharing valuable insights with people as we work to make better decisions." The ODI Summit is a global initiative with more than 700 enterprises, governments and not-for-profits working together to transform data into information that empowers people to build a more inclusive and prosperous world. Based on the principles of open data, the ODI brings together diverse parties to collaborate on improving access to data that is often hidden from view. In 2016, the ODI published "The Open Data Index 2016," a report that examines the current state of open data practices around the world. It found that world governments and organizations are harnessing open data to create innovative solutions to improve the lives of people across the globe. More information about the ODI Summit can be found at About the ODI The Open Data Institute is a not-for-profit organization that champions open data and promotes responsible and ethical leadership in the field. It sets international standards to ensure that public data sets can be re-used for the common good. Its work is inspired by the need to create a more just and inclusive world through the creation of open data and related policies and practices that enable individuals, organizations
