The following simple but useful free utility is a replacement for "Rename..." on Windows which allows you to quickly replace strings in multiple files without having to manually open, modify and save each one. Eco-Boxes replace is a simple yet powerful replacement tool for the "Windows" "Rename..." program. Creating a new file or folder or renaming multiple files or folders is usually a very time-consuming process, involving the double-click of the mouse and several operations (open, modify, save, open, modify, save...). With Eco-Boxes replace, the process of modifying a file or folder or folders becomes faster and easier, eliminating the need to open, modify and save each file, each time. Ecobyte replace works in batch mode. Simply open all the files or folders you need to modify and then Eco-Boxes replace will take care of the rest. The default action is to simply substitute the string of your choice with another string in the same line, preserving the correct structure. You may want to modify it to add or remove lines, change the case of the words, or even change the file or folder names. You may even add or remove certain characters from the string, such as the "." separator, the file extension, the filename, the line breaks, etc. Ecobyte replace is fast and easy to use and can be used either by a single user or by the whole user group, since it doesn't require any privileges. What's new in version 1.2: Added support for Chinese, Japanese, and Korean languages. Fixed an occasional bug when specifying path for input files. Improved UI (interface) in the settings dialog. Notes You can choose between multiple languages. You can make the process as fast as you want by limiting the number of replacements and using a backup file, or the safest way is to make a copy of the files before using the tool. You can specify file types, line breaks and other things to exclude. You can define the replacement text or use "?" to just substitute it with something else. You can replace only the current line (even line breaks) or you can replace all the lines matching the given pattern. You can replace the entire file or you can specify the string to replace as a whole file (stored file). You can choose to replace all the lines in the

Replace Text lets you perform several tasks simultaneously on multiple text files. Group files into folders and specify replacement criteria The application helps you insert text and modify the contents of a text file. ...and we're running out of words! Updates This project has been discontinued in the official version tracker but, it's still a useful tool for experienced users. Discussion here. Installation link here. You may have heard of Bulk Text Replacer, but if you're looking for a program that can replace multiple text files in one go, then we have some good news for you. Bulk Text Replacer can take the pain out of mass file replacements by allowing you to replace multiple text files at once. The program does this by grouping files in a folder and matching multiple files at the same time for an automated replacement process. As a result, you can save up to 50% of time on replacing text files with Bulk Text Replacer compared to normal methods. There is a bit of a learning curve to setting up and using the program. You'll need to know the extension of the files and enter values in replacement fields, but that's how it works for any program. As you may know, MS Word allows you to insert text into a document from a template. In essence, this is a powerful and common tool that many use to remove certain text from a file or insert certain text into a document. However, when you have to remove or replace text in a whole group of files, it can become a little tricky. The Bulk Text Replacer application allows you to do this at once. You simply enter a folder containing your files, and the application will do the rest for you. When you're done, it will create a text file that contains all of the replacements. This is especially useful if you need to modify many files that contain the same text. Another reason to use Bulk Text Replacer is that you can specify what to do with the file after the replacements have been made. You can choose from some different options, including saving a backup, overwriting the file, renaming it, sending it to trash, and you can even choose to delete the file after replacing. A number of advanced options are available to help you create the best possible file. You can even exclude files from being replaced by the program, which will be great if you want to keep the originals. There is also an option to preview each replacement before actually performing the
